[3/13/2010 4:09:27 PM] *** Call ended ***

[3/13/2010 4:09:32 PM] Markus Deibel: focusing on one thing means defocusing from another - always. Well at least in my definition of focus

[3/13/2010 4:09:35 PM] Mohit Verma: actually memocoly is brainstorming game.....

[3/13/2010 4:09:42 PM] Weekend Testing:

http://www.quardev.com/content/whitepapers/et\_inside\_spectator\_sport.pdf

[3/13/2010 4:10:08 PM] Weekend Testing: is a useful document describing the skills.

[3/13/2010 4:10:40 PM] Weekend Testing: @Markus, agree to some extent: Defocus from one task and again focus back on the same task.

[3/13/2010 4:10:44 PM] Mohit Verma: but i think if you have limited time then you should complete those task which you can do early.....

[3/13/2010 4:10:46 PM] Weekend Testing: now does the meaning change?

[3/13/2010 4:10:47 PM] Weekend Testing: :)

[3/13/2010 4:11:35 PM] Mohit Verma: so that you can concentrate on those task which need more time :)

[3/13/2010 4:11:42 PM] Weekend Testing: brainstorming is different from memory game ?

[3/13/2010 4:11:56 PM | Edited 4:12:03 PM] Weekend Testing: and I feel Memocoly is a memory based game

[3/13/2010 4:12:47 PM] Mohit Verma: yes it is memory game but when you don't give correct answer regurly, it somehow put pressures on your mind.....

[3/13/2010 4:13:05 PM] Weekend Testing: hmmm nice experience right?

[3/13/2010 4:13:12 PM] Weekend Testing: diff skills being tested:)

[3/13/2010 4:13:13 PM] Mohit Verma: yeah.....

[3/13/2010 4:13:24 PM] Weekend Testing: so Dhara, can you share your experiences?

[3/13/2010 4:13:31 PM] Dhara: yeah, sure

[3/13/2010 4:14:07 PM] Weekend Testing: I'm expecting a copy paste from notepad/text file to save time and concentrate more on discussion than spending time to type

[3/13/2010 4:14:31 PM] Dhara: I think i took more time to complete task 1 without knowing how much time i may have to take for task 2

[3/13/2010 4:14:49 PM] Dhara: i should have go through the three tasks before starting

[3/13/2010 4:15:00 PM] Dhara: task 2 was the challenging one

[3/13/2010 4:15:26 PM] Dhara: towards the end of task2, it required a lot of concentration with the little time left

[3/13/2010 4:15:33 PM] Dhara: anyway, its a wonderful excercise

[3/13/2010 4:15:38 PM] Weekend Testing: i should have go through the three tasks before startingNice . Sometimes it helps us as to what is the final tasks we have to finish. how much time we can plan for.

[3/13/2010 4:15:53 PM] Dhara: exactly

[3/13/2010 4:16:50 PM] Dhara: so, this task reminded me to do that in future

[3/13/2010 4:16:56 PM] Weekend Testing: others concentrating on the discussion?

[3/13/2010 4:17:09 PM] Siddalinga Pyati: Yes

[3/13/2010 4:17:17 PM] Weekend Testing: Cool, there's always a learning if you are ready to learn :)

[3/13/2010 4:17:41 PM] Dhara: totally agree :)

[3/13/2010 4:17:44 PM] Weekend Testing: so r u done Dhara? you would like to add?

[3/13/2010 4:17:50 PM] Weekend Testing: who's next?

[3/13/2010 4:17:53 PM] Dhara: i'm done

[3/13/2010 4:18:07 PM] Weekend Testing: Thanks Mohit , Thanks Dhara.

[3/13/2010 4:18:25 PM] Dhara: pleasure :)

[3/13/2010 4:18:37 PM] Mohit Verma: :)

[3/13/2010 4:19:02 PM] Siddalinga Pyati: To Add to Dhara,looking at all the task will help you to know which one you are good at and finish the task soon ..

[3/13/2010 4:19:31 PM | Edited 4:20:23 PM] Weekend Testing: Yes, an overview sometimes helps us meet the mission quicker. What do other testers have to say about this?

[3/13/2010 4:19:32 PM] Dhara: yes

[3/13/2010 4:19:54 PM] Mohit Verma: i am agree

[3/13/2010 4:20:03 PM] *** Weekend Testing added Gunjan Sethi ***

[3/13/2010 4:20:28 PM] Weekend Testing: who's next?

[3/13/2010 4:20:43 PM] Markus Deibel: Going back to my task list /regularly/ is a must for me, also to shuffle things around

[3/13/2010 4:20:52 PM] Ravisuriya: Can I share my report.

[3/13/2010 4:20:52 PM] Dhanasekar S: true this is similar to how we write our school exams,first glance through all the task then start with the one you r strong or the one u that looks easy :)

[3/13/2010 4:20:56 PM] Mohit Verma: if it does not help to meet the mission quicker, then it is surely help to meet the maximum coverage

[3/13/2010 4:21:05 PM] Weekend Testing: Lets break here for a minute and a half.

[3/13/2010 4:21:12 PM] Siddalinga Pyati: Another thing i missed during this test was data collection

[3/13/2010 4:21:14 PM] Markus Deibel: Regularly for me is 4 to 5 times a day

[3/13/2010 4:21:20 PM] Weekend Testing: lets meet after 2 minutes Sharp

[3/13/2010 4:21:32 PM] Weekend Testing: Please be ready with your experience report in 2 minutes.

[3/13/2010 4:21:52 PM | Edited 4:22:12 PM] Weekend Testing: it should be just copy paste later instead of typing; we can save a lot of time :)

[3/13/2010 4:23:57 PM] Ram: who is "weekend" here?

[3/13/2010 4:24:03 PM | Edited 4:24:11 PM] Weekend Testing: Ajay Balamurugadas

[3/13/2010 4:24:25 PM] Weekend Testing: please Ravisuriya, share your report.

[3/13/2010 4:24:27 PM] leelakrishna1: Hi Experince letter should contain individually for each task????

[3/13/2010 4:24:33 PM] Ravisuriya: ok

[3/13/2010 4:25:05 PM] Ravisuriya: Mission given:

[3/13/2010 4:25:06 PM] Weekend Testing: @leelakrishna1: you saw what Dhara and Mohit presented?
:) similar to that

[3/13/2010 4:25:07 PM] Ravisuriya:

[3/13/2010 4:25:17 PM] Ravisuriya:

Understanding of Mission:

1. Assumed the word 'picture is built right' as image that looks like exact, for task-1.
2. 'Score 90 points in the game' and 'Send the screenshot. Checkpoints: URL of the game, IQ Score, "Your solution is right, congratulations! (+10 points)"' was confusing to me. I was in confusion of my understanding should I send just this sentence or should I score 90 points and send the asked checkpoints details. Same doubt with task-3 too.

[3/13/2010 4:25:25 PM] Ravisuriya:

Assumption:

-----

1. Looking at the game, I thought it would be time limited.
2. Tools can be of help here for to accomplish the mission.

[3/13/2010 4:25:34 PM] Ravisuriya:

Tools that helped me more to accomplish mission:

-----

1. White paper and Pencil.

[3/13/2010 4:25:41 PM] Ravisuriya:

Tasks:

A) Dragger:

Browsing through the URL given in the mission found jumbled images. I tried clicking button 'Refresh' to find any simple image that I can think of to arrange quickly. Found one jumbled picture that is easy one for me and completed the mission-1.

---

There was no restriction that these particular chunk of images needs to be put in right frame. I thought it was an opportunity for me to choose picture of my interest.

B) Memocoly:

For first couple of tries kept looking at the screen with attention diverted no where. But, this made my eyes strain with no spectacles. I keep the brightness and contrast of being viewed monitor to less than 50. I felt this could affect if I fail to recognize what color they were. Thinking of how to over come, I devised to user numbering system of regions.

Mental Modeling of 4 parts of a geometric shape that appeared as square:

1. Labeled each section as 1, 2, 3 and 4.
2. Later wrote the numbers on the sheet as per the region of square blinked.
3. Later clicked on those regions based on the numbers I wrote.
4. This helped me to complete the mission in good time.

C) NumberHunt:

1. Used Microsoft calculator to calculate the displayed numbers.
2. This helped me to complete the game-3 bit quicker.

This strategies helped me to complete the mission that I understood.

[3/13/2010 4:25:57 PM] Ravisuriya: Further exploration:

1. Working to find if can modify the source page of the page and display the scores.
2. Looking for other ways to do it.

[3/13/2010 4:26:52 PM] Weekend Testing: Very Good Ravisuriya,

[3/13/2010 4:27:12 PM] Weekend Testing: listed out the required parameters for a good report

[3/13/2010 4:27:43 PM] Markus Deibel: That's a very detailed report, I especially like the assumptions part.

[3/13/2010 4:27:49 PM] Weekend Testing: Testers: comments, questions, suggestion, please go on.

[3/13/2010 4:28:14 PM] Mohit Verma: I think, if we use calculator, or pencil or paper for these task, they will loose their essence.....

[3/13/2010 4:28:24 PM] Ram: good there is also a discussion - i wasn't sure and sent it in an email;

[3/13/2010 4:28:35 PM] Dhanasekar S: it would have be better if calculator was not used,

[3/13/2010 4:28:40 PM] Mohit Verma: for examplay memocoly is to check how faster you can memorize the things.....

[3/13/2010 4:28:48 PM] Ram: agreed, for this math exercise, it was productive doing it in brain instaed of external tools

[3/13/2010 4:29:26 PM | Edited 4:29:41 PM] Weekend Testing: @All, does it not depend on the tester? If the tester wants to meet the mission or improve the skills?

[3/13/2010 4:29:28 PM] Weekend Testing: :)

[3/13/2010 4:30:00 PM] Ravisuriya: @Mohith, @Mohit, @Ram : I did without tools after accomplishing the mission. I had time here i.e., one hour to complete the mission. This is one among the other strategies I had.

[3/13/2010 4:30:04 PM] Mohit Verma: our mission was to improve the skills and not to comple the task, right ajay?

[3/13/2010 4:30:27 PM] Weekend Testing: was it explicitly mentione anywhere? :)

[3/13/2010 4:30:36 PM] Dhanasekar S: but this session for learning and improving skills

[3/13/2010 4:30:36 PM] Mohit Verma: yes.....

[3/13/2010 4:30:42 PM] Mohit Verma: let me show you :)

[3/13/2010 4:30:52 PM] Weekend Testing: and as Ravisuriya says, it was one of the strategies.

[3/13/2010 4:30:53 PM] Dhanasekar S: yes u mentioned "but this session for learning and improving skills"

[3/13/2010 4:31:16 PM] Weekend Testing: Good find.

[3/13/2010 4:31:18 PM] Mohit Verma: Weekend Testing: @ Markus, this session is for learning and improving skills

[3/13/2010 4:31:59 PM] Ravisuriya: The question I had was "how to complete mission in one hour". I picked this strategy for that one hour mission. If had no restriction of time, I would have chosen other strategies I wrote.

[3/13/2010 4:32:13 PM] Mohit Verma: he should make a strategy to meet the mission, not to meet the mission quickly

[3/13/2010 4:32:19 PM] Ravisuriya: * I wrote in my book.

[3/13/2010 4:32:34 PM] Weekend Testing: quite debatable

[3/13/2010 4:32:47 PM] Weekend Testing: he should make a strategy to meet the mission, not to meet the mission quicklyquite debatable

[3/13/2010 4:32:48 PM] Weekend Testing: :)

[3/13/2010 4:32:56 PM] Ram: learning and improving skills are biproducts of the task - but the objective is still to Understand --> Estimate --> Execute --> QA --> Report --> Retrospection and this retrospection is the learning part and improvement part that helps for further future instances

[3/13/2010 4:32:58 PM] Dhanasekar S: even i used pen and paper to complete task 2 but i used them to improve my memory skills,as noting down improves your memory,but didnt use than to complete the task

[3/13/2010 4:33:13 PM] Ravisuriya: My intention was not to meet it quicky i.e, within a hour. I should be able to deliver the mission result possibly by an hour.

[3/13/2010 4:33:55 PM] Mohit Verma: what if you get a such tak in real life.... will you do it twice in that case.....

[3/13/2010 4:34:29 PM] Weekend Testing: good points: he had the buffer of one hour to try out diff strategies...

[3/13/2010 4:34:51 PM] Dhanasekar S: we are using this session to gain experience ,so that we do it better when we are faced with such situation :)

[3/13/2010 4:34:51 PM] Weekend Testing: This is a report of similar task:
<http://weekendtesting.com/archives/577>

[3/13/2010 4:35:02 PM] Mohit Verma: I am not saying that you are wrong here, i mean to say if you are using pen and paper and noting down the sequence and then you replying then its not improving your memory, its improving your writing skill.....

[3/13/2010 4:35:27 PM] Dhanasekar S: writing down improves your memory i did that

[3/13/2010 4:35:29 PM] Weekend Testing: overall, Weekend Testing sessions provides a platform to try out your approaches.

[3/13/2010 4:35:39 PM] Weekend Testing: so lets take this discussion offline

[3/13/2010 4:35:45 PM] Markus Deibel: @Mohit: I think the mission was not to improve memory but to reach 50 points

[3/13/2010 4:35:53 PM] Weekend Testing: in the interest of time, lets move to othe rtesters

[3/13/2010 4:35:57 PM] Ravisuriya: I made use of available tools to accomplish mission. Excercises are always needed for me. I agree on that. This was my own choice for that time.

[3/13/2010 4:36:07 PM] Dhanasekar S: but not to use that as accomplish the mission

[3/13/2010 4:36:12 PM] Weekend Testing: Thank you Ravisuriya,

[3/13/2010 4:36:16 PM] Weekend Testing: who's next

[3/13/2010 4:36:29 PM] swapna chigullapalli: It was good experience..

I got stuck with drager, so I jumped to my 2nd game, der I finished it in a min and jumped on to 3rd, even tht I could finish it in a min.

Then realized that I shd score IQ of 90 in 2nd and 50 in 3rd game.

I dint properly read the tasks first time which is my mistake,

This time dragger dint take much time as I got easier one to sort, even numberhunt was easy.

But cud not cross 40 in memocoly.

In the last 2 min I felt I shd have used pen and paper to note the sequence in memocoly.

[3/13/2010 4:36:39 PM] Weekend Testing: @Mohit: I think the mission was not to improve memory but to reach 50 pointsPoint!!!

[3/13/2010 4:36:52 PM] Ravisuriya: Friends, then, I believe "Mission" should have stated not to use anything explicitly. All you need to use is your memory. Am I wrong or right?

[3/13/2010 4:37:38 PM] Weekend Testing: I dint properly read the tasks first time which is my mistake, Happens, good that it happened here,

[3/13/2010 4:37:52 PM | Edited 4:38:00 PM] Weekend Testing: and not somewhere where the mistake could have been more costly.

[3/13/2010 4:38:24 PM] Ravisuriya: Let us also listen other testers reports.

[3/13/2010 4:38:28 PM] swapna chigullapalli: yes, I agree

[3/13/2010 4:38:58 PM] Weekend Testing: so what was your learning Swapna?

[3/13/2010 4:39:10 PM] Mohit Verma: here you are forgetting.... the game is there to improvise the memory, they check how much you memorize, if we are using the pen & pencil or other tools then you are playing the game honestly.....

[3/13/2010 4:39:30 PM] swapna chigullapalli: I shd have used pen and paper to note the sequence in memocoly,

[3/13/2010 4:39:59 PM] Mohit Verma: * you are not playing the game honestly :) i forgot to write 'not' in my above comment

[3/13/2010 4:40:31 PM] Weekend Testing: Well, friends

[3/13/2010 4:40:38 PM] swapna chigullapalli: i feel we shd use the resources avaiulable to accomplish a task

[3/13/2010 4:40:38 PM] swapna chigullapalli: in time

[3/13/2010 4:40:42 PM] Weekend Testing: playing a game and meeting the mission

[3/13/2010 4:40:52 PM] Weekend Testing: might be two different objectives

[3/13/2010 4:41:12 PM] Weekend Testing: i feel we shd use the resources avaiulable to accomplish a task in timeAgree, :)

[3/13/2010 4:41:31 PM] Dhanasekar S: true,i think it is on the individuals priority ,as this is a learning experience

[3/13/2010 4:41:41 PM] Weekend Testing: Thanks Swapna,

[3/13/2010 4:41:45 PM] Weekend Testing: who's next

[3/13/2010 4:41:51 PM] swapna chigullapalli: thanq

[3/13/2010 4:42:06 PM] Weekend Testing: Moving pencils, please can we use our Listening skills a bit more?

[3/13/2010 4:42:24 PM] Dhanasekar S: i will give me report

[3/13/2010 4:42:28 PM] Ravisuriya: @Mohit I took the mission in consideration, not the actual purpose of the game for which it is available.

[3/13/2010 4:42:31 PM] Weekend Testing: Sure Dhanasekar, go ahead

[3/13/2010 4:42:51 PM] Weekend Testing: Ravi & Mohit, please share it offline, It is affecting the main discussion session.

[3/13/2010 4:42:55 PM] Dhanasekar S: I stared with task 1 looking into the objective misunderstood the objective,moved on to task 2 after building the first picture correct.

Task 2 was easy upto IQ score of 50,so i decided to note down the order but didnt copy from it :),

I made a note of it because writing down improves the memory skills.After few attempts of trying and noting down I was able to complete that.

Task 3 was easy as i am good at maths :)

Then I went to verify if i have meet the objective found that i missed the first mission(Complete the game:),so started trying again but my eyes started burning so i gave up

Lessons Learned : Revisit your objective and verify again to make sure you have achieved it correctly

[3/13/2010 4:43:50 PM] Weekend Testing: Then I went to verify if i have meet the objective found that i missed the first mission(Complete the game:)wasn't it too late to check if mission was accomplished?

[3/13/2010 4:44:57 PM] Dhanasekar S: i am ther?

[3/13/2010 4:45:03 PM] Markus Deibel: @Ajay: He had some work done, which doesn't necessary mean that the effort put it served the mission

[3/13/2010 4:45:12 PM] Weekend Testing: Good Dhanasekar, do you feel this is a good exercise to improve skills?

[3/13/2010 4:45:47 PM] Markus Deibel: I think Dhanasekar choose a good timing here.

[3/13/2010 4:45:57 PM] Weekend Testing: @Ajay: He had some work done, which doesn't necessary mean that the effort put it served the mission which efforts/tasks are you referring to Markus? :)

[3/13/2010 4:46:16 PM] Dhanasekar S: am i there? got disconnected

[3/13/2010 4:46:43 PM] Weekend Testing: u r there @ Dhanasekar

[3/13/2010 4:46:57 PM] Mohit Verma: I need to say something..... :)

[3/13/2010 4:47:07 PM] Weekend Testing: ha ha, please go on Mohit.

[3/13/2010 4:47:18 PM] Mohit Verma: By using resources you have completed the mission assigned to you, but forgot what the mission of the product..... if the product's actual mission is not being tested then how is yours?

[3/13/2010 4:48:24 PM] Dhanasekar S: i am back

[3/13/2010 4:48:27 PM] Mohit Verma: here in momocoly the resources should be our eyes and brain... and not the external resources.....

[3/13/2010 4:48:28 PM] Weekend Testing: are we testers ( who plan to meet the mission) or testers (who aim to improve our skills)

[3/13/2010 4:49:47 PM] Mohit Verma: listen... if our mission was to touch the score then instead of pencil or copy we should use screen recorder, it would be more efficient tool :) and it works more faster

[3/13/2010 4:50:05 PM] Dhanasekar S: i feel writing down improves your memory,(most would have experienced from schools) i used that to improve my memory

[3/13/2010 4:50:10 PM] Markus Deibel: @Mohi: Heureka

[3/13/2010 4:50:13 PM] Ravisuriya: @Ajay, Good one: "are we testers ( who plan to meet the mission) or testers (who aim to improve our skills)".

If said this way: "we are testers ( who plan to meet the mission) or testers (who aim to improve our skills)" will it help?

[3/13/2010 4:50:22 PM | Edited 4:50:29 PM] Weekend Testing: yes, did anyone prevent you from doing that?

[3/13/2010 4:50:41 PM] Weekend Testing: yes @ Ravisuriya.

[3/13/2010 4:51:01 PM] Weekend Testing: excellent topic to discuss

[3/13/2010 4:51:05 PM] Weekend Testing: lets discuss here

[3/13/2010 4:51:06 PM] Weekend Testing:
<http://weekendtesting.com/discussions?vasthtmlaction=viewforum&f=6.0>

[3/13/2010 4:51:30 PM] Weekend Testing: Thanks Dhanasekar, who wants to share their report?

[3/13/2010 4:52:21 PM] vijay kalkundri: Here was my approach

[3/13/2010 4:52:23 PM] vijay kalkundri: For task 1:

Some of the images that were present were not easy. Hence i was looking for a more meaning ful and easy picture to complete.I though refreshing the screen would help in getting a more meaning ful reply.

Task 2:

Was getting stuck when the points reached 40. Hence used numbering system as the light blinked in a rythm to remember the sequence.used paper and pen for accomplishing the same. When i was about to take screen shot the power went off.

Task 3:

was comparatively easy. as it was just arithmetic.

[3/13/2010 4:52:43 PM] Mohit Verma: nope..... but you are responsible o stakeholder also, if asked how many attempts generally it takes to score 90, then what will be your answer - by using copy pen 1 and without copy pen it takes more than 20 :)

[3/13/2010 4:53:06 PM] Weekend Testing: Task 1: Excellent. I myself was stuck for a long time thinking of how to get rid of the picture

[3/13/2010 4:53:10 PM] Weekend Testing: :)

[3/13/2010 4:53:55 PM] Weekend Testing: oops @ Task 2: Power cut. Sometimes I feel, Testers need to be aware of powercuts too as a distraction. and be prepared to meet the distraction.

[3/13/2010 4:53:58 PM] Mohit Verma: :)

[3/13/2010 4:54:30 PM] vijay kalkundri: Chrome came to my rescue it restored the session

[3/13/2010 4:54:52 PM] Weekend Testing: good.

[3/13/2010 4:55:27 PM] Markus Deibel: On a sidenote I keep admiring you guys who have to cope with powercuts all the time. This basically never happens in Central Europe. I can't imagine how much this affects your work.

[3/13/2010 4:55:36 PM] Weekend Testing: so any specific mistake u felt, you could correct next session?

[3/13/2010 4:56:39 PM] vijay kalkundri: Yeah i think when we have 3 mission to accomplish , we need to prioritise the one that is more easy

[3/13/2010 4:56:54 PM] Weekend Testing: prioritizing or overview?

[3/13/2010 4:57:06 PM] Mohit Verma: yes, room is always there for improvement

[3/13/2010 4:57:10 PM] Weekend Testing: as all three had to be completed.

[3/13/2010 4:57:31 PM] Dhanasekar S: @ Markus Deibel at work place we have generators and UPS ,the problem is at individual houses

[3/13/2010 4:58:10 PM] vijay kalkundri: what i mean was start with a easiest task and then go for a tougher one. This will help us give more time to the tougher task

[3/13/2010 4:58:29 PM] Weekend Testing: nice @ Vijay.

[3/13/2010 4:59:34 PM] Markus Deibel: @vijay: it doesn't exactly give you more time, but it gives you a better opportunity of splitting your time when you have less tasks at hand

[3/13/2010 4:59:45 PM] Markus Deibel: Yeah, I'll do

[3/13/2010 4:59:46 PM] Weekend Testing: less unknown tasks?

[3/13/2010 4:59:59 PM] Weekend Testing: yes please Markus.

[3/13/2010 5:00:03 PM] Markus Deibel: Screenshots:

http://testingyet.markus-deibel.de/uploads/memocoly\_90\_markus.png

First of all: I didn't "play" the games to reach the scores. I cheated!

Why did I do it? There has already been such a WT session and I read the chat transcript and experience reports that stated interpretations of "to complete". And one is not to reach the target (meet the mission) not by playing but using "any means necessary".

How did I do it? Tamper Data Add-on for Firefox.

[3/13/2010 5:00:28 PM] Weekend Testing: Super :) Mohit would start typing ;)

[3/13/2010 5:00:35 PM] Markus Deibel: oops the first "not is to much

[3/13/2010 5:00:55 PM] Markus Deibel: of course we want to reach the target

[3/13/2010 5:01:24 PM] Weekend Testing: Tamper Data Add-on for Firefox.Could you please highlight?

[3/13/2010 5:01:27 PM] Mohit Verma: :D

[3/13/2010 5:01:40 PM] Markus Deibel: There is also another ressource I used. The participants here.

[3/13/2010 5:01:40 PM] Mohit Verma: Not now.....

[3/13/2010 5:01:56 PM] Weekend Testing: you borrowed screenshots? ;)

[3/13/2010 5:02:45 PM] Markus Deibel: While I was working away on tasks 2 and 3 some questions regarding task 1 in the chat that in the end help me to clarify an open question and meet the mission

[3/13/2010 5:03:01 PM] Weekend Testing: being open to info and scouting for info - helps :)

[3/13/2010 5:03:02 PM] Ram: @markus curious to know how and in what way a tamper add-on helped you - or were you security testing it

[3/13/2010 5:03:34 PM] Markus Deibel: I had a look at the source code of the pages

[3/13/2010 5:04:15 PM] Markus Deibel: they all contain variables, including a "score" variable

[3/13/2010 5:04:29 PM] Weekend Testing: nice

[3/13/2010 5:05:05 PM] Markus Deibel: if you check the dragger screenshot it says 780 points

[3/13/2010 5:05:09 PM] Weekend Testing: here has already been such a WT session and I read the chat transcript and experience reports that stated interpretations of "to complete". WT experience reports are slowly becoming a valuable source of information .

[3/13/2010 5:05:30 PM] Ravisuriya: @Markus, I tried to work on those variables. It did not help me. Did it help you to tamper the score.

[3/13/2010 5:05:34 PM] Markus Deibel: I guess that would be impossible by mere playing in this time - I tried it before ;)

[3/13/2010 5:05:52 PM] Weekend Testing: good approach :) like to add?

[3/13/2010 5:05:58 PM] Weekend Testing: Ram you next?

[3/13/2010 5:06:37 PM] Ram: @markus "variables " - as you said - so it depends on what kind of short cuts would be helpful and at the same time, if some of those shortcuts would be valuable to the customers - looking back at the requirements and if we are meeting the customer needs - and how are meeting those needs -

i'm interested to hear more about that aspect

[3/13/2010 5:06:41 PM] Markus Deibel: @Ravisurlyya: Yes you set I set it to 80 and completed a memocoly round and was at 90

[3/13/2010 5:07:21 PM] Ravisuriya: I was not able to get the images and the actual appearance of web when I tampered the score. *Note: I tried to tamper the scores through source page and cookies (if any) after the mission was accomplished.

[3/13/2010 5:15:26 PM] Weekend Testing: thanks Dhanasekar for the link.

[3/13/2010 5:15:33 PM] Ram: in a way, i think so, like some of you said i didn't need all hour for the exercise - however, i could have done better in estimating the time required for each one so i could have compared my estimation skills

[3/13/2010 5:16:41 PM] Ram: Estimation is one of the aspects that most of us get challenged - we say some number and get into crunch mode when we can't meet those said estimated effort hours

[3/13/2010 5:17:45 PM] Weekend Testing: :) right, sometimes managers ask for numbers just to check if you have a shorter duration than what they have thought of.

[3/13/2010 5:18:03 PM] Weekend Testing: Thanks Ram.
